THE HILLMAN PROPERTY. A Romance in Real Estate.

On Saturday last the most beautiful residence in Clarksville came under the auctioneer's hammer. This property was forty years ago presented by a Mr. Frazier to his niece, Mrs. G. A. Henry, nee Mc-Clure. The young lawyer, since known as the Eagle Orator of Tenessee, was then beginning to taste the prosperity which awaited his transcendent talents as an advocate, and the darling object of his efforts was to convert the home thus acquired into a paradise for the lady through whom he had come into possession of it. Groves were planted, gardens were skilfully planned, the house was altered and enlarged 35 60 43 00 50 00 60 00 115 00 and furnished with taste and elegance, and soon with its flowers and fruits and the cool shadows of its lawns it became the most attractive home in Clarksville, and the genial hospitality of its proprietor, graced by the winning urbanity of its lady mistress, rendered it a General Superintendent, by his old 8.65 a. m centre of attraction for all who could
